TOPIC: TRANSCULTURAL AWARENESS FOR FEMALE STEM STUDENTS

In Stephanie Gauger's digital workshop, participants will raise their awareness of transcultural challenges and develop new strategies to deal with international challenges. Participants work out personal perspectives and strategies for their studies in Germany and practice dealing with uncertainties. They deal with questions such as "What does German culture look like? What are the rules? What is my own culture and how do I bring both together?" They also deal with images of women and gender roles in an international context and develop a self-confident approach to everyday challenges.

Participants are strengthened individually by expanding their socio-cultural skills.

Methods: Group work, discussion, films, exercises, interactive lectures, exchange of experiences
